SAVAGES USED ELEVATOR

The first knife was, of course, a flint flake, and the earliest spoon a shell, to which primitive man learned in the course of ages to fasten a handle of wood.

Such articles as these, together with hammers, axes and needles, are easily recognized as having come down to us direct from savagery. It is, however, more startling to find that such a comparatively modern invention as the lift has been used for ages by tribes whom we designate as savage. The application of the principle of the modern vertical lift may be seen today among the bee hunters of the Island of Timor.

To get at a honeycomb seventy feet overhead with nothing between it and the ground but a smooth and branchless trunk seems at first sight impossible without ladders of ropes. It is a simple matter to the Polynesian. He cuts a few yards from the tough stem of a creeper, and forms of it a bush rope, with this he makes a loop around the trunk and his body. Jerking the loop a little about his head, he leans back and begins walking up, his bare feet pressed against the trunk. Repeating the whole operation, he gradually gains the top. The whole ascent is made without exhausting use of muscle by utilizing the principle of friction.

Cotton weaving has done more for Great Britain within the last century than any one other industry. The Indians of Central and South America have for centuries past used a loom so elaborate that ours is, comparatively speaking, but a slight improvement upon it.

We should never have had the Panama hat but for the quick fingered Indians of the Isthmus of Panama. Even today their secret process for seasoning the grass blades used in weaving these hats remains unrivaled. Basket makers of the same region make baskets which will hold water without leaking—another invention which is quite beyond us.

Felting was invented by Polynesian savages, and brought by the Hawaiian natives to a perfection we have never excelled. They not only made coverings for their houses and blankets out of felt, but by pounding the inner bark of certain trees succeeded in producing soft and comfortable semi-clothing of this material, such as sleeveless coats and cloaks.

Mortar was made by the people of Tahiti when our ancestors were shivering in holes and in the rocks. They dived into the sea, brought up great lumps of coral, burned them in pits, using wood as fuel, and mixed the lime they got in this fashion with sharp sand and water. With this mixture the ingenious savage plastered the walls and floor of his house, and a better mortar could not be obtained.

Another purely savage invention, which is perhaps the most familiar object of modern life, is the tobacco pipe—not only the common clay which the North American Indians molded centuries ago out of the red sandstone of Colorado, but the wooden pipe, the prototype of the everyday briar.—London Answers.

KIT CARSON'S RIFLE.

It is perhaps not known to all the world that the rifle of Kit Carson, the great Western hunter, scout and explorer is carefully preserved and may be seen by those who know its whereabouts. At the time of Kit Carson's death he left his rifle to Montezuma lodge, A. F. and A. M., of Santa Fe, N. M., in whose charge it has remained ever since, an object of great interest and very highly prized by all members of that society. Montezuma lodge is one of the oldest organizations of that nature west of the Missouri river. It was organized so long ago as 1849, at which time the ancient town of Santa Fe was just beginning to take in part the color of the western-bound Anglo-Saxon civilization. Fremont's first trip to the Rocky mountains was made in 1842. There were few white men in all that part of the West at the time of the founding of Montezuma lodge, but Kit Carson was one of these early members. To his brothers of the society he left what may have been one of his most cherished possessions.—Field and Stream.

MORE TRIPS TO WAHIAWA

Y. W. C. A. Has Plans for Two Mountain Outings.

Wahiawa is again to be the objective point of an outing party which will occupy the Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A. "vacation cottages" there on July 26 under the supervision of Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Brown, secretaries respectively of the Y. M. and Y. W. C. A. It is planned to have the party remain there a week. Several of those who were in the Junior camp last month have booked for the second outing expedition. About half the places have been spoken for and any one else wishing to accompany the party can obtain information from the secretaries.

One of the pleasant features of the past outing was a picnic to Waianae Gap, the party being taken there by Mr. Buick of Leliehua Ranch.

An around the island trip, with a week at Wahiawa is being planned for August. The trip will last ten days altogether, the party proceeding by coach over the Pali to Wahiawa.

The members of the Y. M. C. A. Junior camp held a reunion on Saturday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Brown, and formed a permanent organization with Ray Rietow as president, and Warren Marshall as secretary. Photographs of the encampment were exhibited and exchanged, and at the close of the meeting the president, on behalf of the boys, presented Mrs. Brown with a handsome pincushion covered with point lace.

During the heated summer months there is hardly a more pleasant place at noon than the Y. W. C. A. rooms, which are generally cool and inviting. The luncheon caterers now to about forty people daily, a dainty lunch being served. Yesterday's menu, as a sample, was as follows: Fried sausage, new potatoes, sliced tomatoes, bread and butter, grape-herbert, cake and tea. The menu varies sometimes with salads, cold meats and sliced fruits. For this dainty collation members pay fifteen cents, and non-members, twenty cents. The lunch-room is open to persons of both classes, and afterwards there are the sitting rooms open with big hickies for a siesta, the reading and writing rooms, with stationery and the latest magazines and papers at hand. Lunch is served from 11:30 to 2 daily.

BASEBALL PROTESTS BROUGHT NO RELIEF

Two protests which had been on file with the Baseball League trustees were considered yesterday morning by the trustees and thrown out. One was the protest of the Elks which objected to their loss of the first game on the ground that the game was not called two hours before sundown. The other was by the H. A. C.'s protesting against the umpire's decision in calling En Sue out, because after hitting En Sue, who was batting, the ball hit his person. The trustees present were President Isenberg, Harry Whitney, Col. Allen and Deputy Sheriff Chillingworth.

Printers and Binders.

The Printers and Binders of the Hawaiian Gazette Company have decided to make a test of superiority on the baseball diamond. The challenge is expected to pass any day and the date for the game will be set later in the week.

HUNTSMEN ARE HUNTED

Treasury Department Is Pursuing Waialua Shooters.

An interesting result of the discussion in the Advertiser of alleged slaughtering of birds at Waialua has been the issuance of notices by the Treasury Department to many of the shooters whose names were mentioned in a denial of the charge of wanton slaughter published recently. Most of the sportsmen named by their defender had no authority to fire a shot at a bird, much less make bags of size needing explanation to show that slaughter was not involved, because they had not paid the license fee nor received the permit required by law.

The Treasury Department is notifying the unlicensed Nimrods to make good with the fees, otherwise there will be a lot of more or less, "big guns" served with summons for violations of the game law. Besides the published list, other sporting news from Haleiwa Hotel has yielded raw material for the Treasurer's purpose. Should the cases go as far as to the Circuit Court, one of the three judges of this circuit would be apt to be found disqualified for hearing them.

LONELINESS OF THE PRAIRIE.

"I had almost as soon be set adrift in a small boat in the mid-ocean as to be dropped down on the vast prairie near the Kansas-Colorado state line," said a man who is familiar with the west.

"One cannot realize the loneliness of the Western plains until he has crossed them. There are very few human habitations, comparatively little of the land is under cultivation, and water is a scarce and precious commodity. In every direction nothing meets the gaze of the eye except a trackless, treeless waste which is bounded only by the lowering sky. Prairie dogs are the chief denizens of this region, and as the train whirled past they perch themselves on their hind legs and sit bolt upright, as motionless as a statue. There are a few houses, but they are at wide intervals. The single advantage that a lonely pedestrian has in that region is that by following the railroad track sufficiently far he will reach a town some day; but walking at this season under the burning prairie sun and in a waterless country is by no means pleasant.

"It is positively tiresome to the eye to ride across the prairies in a comfortable pullman car, surrounded by all the luxuries of life. This being true, it must be next to appalling to have to tramp over this region without food or water, except what one begs at the few way stations along the route. I have never been able to see anything picturesque or inviting about the wide-stretching plains."—Birmingham News.
